FIFTEEN SOLID OBJECTIONS TO THE NEW CONSTITUTION!

1. The life-principle of this Constitution is ABSOLUTE EQUALITY OF RIGHT, IN ALL THINGS, of all races and colors.

2. It provides for and establishes, not only CIVIL, but also POLITICAL and social, EQUALITY of the WHITE and NEGRO RACES.

3. It makes the negro eligible to hold any office, HIGH or LOW.

4. It provides for a system of public Common Schools and for a State University, to which ALL children, between the ages of six and twenty-one years, without distinction of race or color, may go, and provides that the Legislature may compel those between the ages of six and eighteen years to go, and the Legislature will have no power to provide for the consequence now, and under this Constitution, when 70,000 ignorant negroes vote, and especially, when it is undeniable that they have voted heretofore solidly against the white man, and at the bidding of the worst men in the country! Let every man stop to consider this.

12. It provides for cutting up the several counties of the State into what in New England are called "Townships," and that five Commissioners shall be elected in each county, every two years, and the first five elected shall divide the county up into "Townships," of suitable size, and each Township shall be some sort of a municipality, with a host of officers, all subject to the supervision of the five Commissioners. This introduces a new system, which is only adapted to thickly populated States, like Rhode Island and Massachusetts. It requires a complexity of machinery and officers, and an amount of expense, wholly unadapted to the wants, tastes and education of our people.

13. It creates and provides for an indefinite number of new, expensive and unnecessary officers. These are a few of them: Two more Supreme Court Judges; four more Superior Court Judges; a Lieutenant Governor; an Attorney General; four more State Solicitors; five County Commissioners for each county; a Superintendent of Public Works, and a number, besides, for the several counties. These will cost, annually, AN IMMENSE SUM, besides increasing the complexity of our Government system.

14. This Constitution requires the Legislature to raise, by TAXATION, next year, a sum of money, which it is practically impossible for the people, in their present impoverished condition, to pay. The sum of money to pay the interest on the public debt, and for other purposes, which this Constitution requires to be collected from the people of the State at large, next year, is ONE MILLION EIGHT HUNDRED AND THIRTY SIX THOUSAND DOLLARS, and this does not include county and city taxes, nor does this include any of the taxes that must be paid to the Federal Government. If this Constitution is adopted, the taxes that the people of this State must pay, for State, county, city and United States purposes, will be every dollar of THREE MILLIONS. It will be more, indeed, than this sum.

The estimates for the State taxes are rights of all are secured. This system, too, has the sanction of the greatest, purest and wisest Judges that ever lived; it has been maturing for ages at the cost of untold sums. This new Constitution abolishes this old system, presents a new and nutried system, and puts the rights of the people at sea without any compass or chart by which to sail. It will take generations to settle this new system, and it will cost millions of dollars, in one way and another, to settle the thousands of new questions of law that will spring up under it. Besides, this new system has not the sanction or approval of any Judge of experience or learning in this country or England; on the contrary it is condemned by Judges of virtue and learning everywhere. It has not the sanction of a single disinterested lawyer of ability and learning, and the good sense of all people will enable them to see that the proposed system is unsafe and utterly impracticable.

10. It abolishes the County Courts and substitutes none in their stead; it leaves most of the business done by these Courts to the Clerks of the Superior Courts. These Courts have been of incalculable benefit to the people; they are emphatically the people's Courts; they are simple, plain and easily understood by the plainest and simplest men; they are beyond question, too, the cheapest Courts in the world, except our single Justice's Court. Under this new system these Courts are to be closed forever.

11. It provides for the election of the Judges of the Courts by the qualified voters of the State. Our people have always been averse to electing Judges in this way; but what will be the consequence now, and under this Constitution, when 70,000 ignorant negroes vote, and especially, when it is undeniable that they have voted heretofore solidly against the white man, and at the bidding of the worst men in the country? Let every man stop to consider this.

12. It provides for cutting up the several counties of the State into what in New England are called "Townships," and that five Commissioners shall be elected in each county, every two years, and the first five elected shall divide the county up into "Townships," of suitable size, and each Township shall be some sort of a municipality, with a host of officers, all subject to the supervision of the five Commissioners. This introduces a new system, which is only adapted to thickly populated States, like Rhode Island and Massachusetts. It requires a complexity of machinery and officers, and an amount of expense, wholly unadapted to the wants, tastes and education of our people.

13. It creates and provides for an indefinite number of new, expensive and unnecessary officers. These are a few of them: Two more Supreme Court Judges; four more Superior Court Judges; a Lieutenant Governor; an Attorney General; four more State Solicitors; five County Commissioners for each county; a Superintendent of Public Works, and a number, besides, for the several counties. These will cost, annually, AN IMMENSE SUM, besides increasing the complexity of our Government system.

The estimates for the State taxes are taken from undeniable data, at the office of the State Treasurer. CAN the people pay this sum, now? Don't any sensible man know they cannot, without the ruin of four fifths of those who have to pay taxes? This is a matter of the greatest pecuniary concern.

15. This Constitution is not a North Carolina production. It is not the handwork of North Carolinians. It is the offspring of the vanity, malignity and unblushing presumption of a few Northern adventurers, who ruled and drove the Convention to do their bidding. And these men are not good men, or men of intellect; they are common men, without intellect, property or anything else to recommend them. They can pack up what they have and leave the State in twenty-four hours. This is true, of four-fifths of them, and two or three of them, who claim personal respectability, are wholly unacquainted with the wants and wishes or necessities of our people. Then, worse than all, every one of these adventurers was elected, not by white votes, but by negro votes; and this explains why the doctrine of negro equality permeates and pervades the whole Constitution. The plain, but degenerate North Carolinians, who sat in that Convention, calling themselves Republicans, not one of them, ever dreamed of such a Constitution as is presented to the people of North Carolina. It is, in truth, of Yankee paternity, and the stock is scrub of the worst type.

NORTH CAROLINANS! Consider these truths, and the consequences to grow out of the adoption of this Constitution, and cease not to labor day and night,—ALL, EVERY ONE, for its defeat!

WHO WILL PLOT?
(How Holden fell in '61.)
Who will plot
For the heads of Abe Lincoln and Scott?
Oh! who from these monsters will rid us?
Who for our sunny land,
Will grasp dagger in hand,
And do what a million tongues bid us?

Oh! for one glimpse of the brave!
Who will venture to save
Our land from the foes who malign us,
From the clutch of the knave,
From the fate of the slave,
From the doom to which tyrants consign us.
Go seek ye the fame the traitor craves;
Go tread in the path that true glory paves,
And forever immortal be;
Go snatch up the knife,
Put an end to the strife,
And live in the hearts of the free.

How proudly the pages of history tell,
Of Brutus immortal as slain Caesar fell,
And Rome again free as of yore,—
Go! rival the Roman.
Go! strike down the foeman—
Be glorious like Brutus—
And live in the hearts of the savage.
Grap tight the steel!—be this your cry—
"Our country live!"—let tyrants die!
And sink in graves to rot;
With names the skies will despise;
Like these two fiends in man's disguise—
Twin tyrants, Abe and Scott.

A Remarkable Oyster.—A few days since, a prominent gentleman residing in one of the lower counties, went on board an oyster boat lying at one of the landings on York river, and bought a few of the "bivalves" in the shell, which he proceeded to open for himself. Attached to and imbibed in the shell of one of them he encountered a metallic substance. This oyster he carried home, and there proceeded to break it pieces with a hammer. Picture his astonishment when he found that it contained a French gold coin, known as a Louis d'or, of the value of about fourteen dollars, bearing date 1573. It is probable that it was lost overboard from the French fleet during the siege of Yorktown.—Richmond Examiner.

COAL FIELDS R. R.—We understand the stockholders, who met in Fayetteville last week, decided to make the connexion with the N. C. railroad, at the enterprising town of High Point. The people generally expected Greensboro to be the terminus, and there were many reasons why it should have been. The cost was estimated at $250,000 less and the facilities offered by the other connexions here were quite an object, besides a handsome sum was subscribed by our town; yet, Wilmington has ever been jealous of a rivalry with Virginia ports, and Fayetteville has so long been completely under the thumb of Wilmington, that she had no power to rid herself when this—her last and only chance of freedom was offered.

The people here desired the connexion; but, we still have three more direct routes to Virginia ports than via Wilmington,—from which place, we are informed, over half the cotton, &c., sent there for Northern markets, is shipped by rail, via Weldon to Portsmouth, Va. And yet, the cry of “building up Virginia cities,” was the only cause of not making the connexion at Greensboro.

THE CANVAS IN GUILFORD was begun in earnest on Saturday last at McLeansville, by D. F. Caldwell, Esq., and J.T. Morehead. The assemblage was large and influential, and the speeches told for the Conservative cause. The presence of many ladies and the Stonewall String Band, added much to the cause for which all white men should act.

At the conclusion of the speaking a meeting was held and J. A. Gilmer, Jr., was requested to represent that part of the county. He accepted and is now stumping for the House of Representatives and the white man's party.

Twelve Negroes escaped from the county jail of New Hanover, on the 4th. A radical gang.

RADICAL LITURGY.

For the release from constitutional rule; we thank thee, oh! Lucifer!

For giving us such great and zealous leaders, as Stephens, Sumner, Butler, &c.; we thank thee, oh! Lucifer!

In them you may be proud! great Father!

For all the offices which we hold in spite of the majority of the people, for we never could have got them without thy aid; we thank thee, oh! Lucifer!

For the corn from the public crib on which we have all grown fat; we thank thee, mighty Father!

For the milk and honey which thou hast poured down our gullets; be praised oh! Chief of Chiefs!

For the splendid opportunity thou hast given us to steal and lie our pockets with the needful; we are most truly grateful, most serene Majesty!

For hardening our hearts so that we are not affected by the cries of distress coming from all parts of your conquered territory, we thank thee, lord of Confusions!

For smothering in our souls the natural love for country so that we have no remorse of conscience at the downfall which we have caused; we thank thee, great prince of Destructionists!

For the power to continue the grand task you have set us, until all the people shall bow down and acknowledge allegiance to thee, we will thank thee, august Monarch of all the regions below!

For the total obliteration of that infernal word constitution from the vocabulary of men under which the obstinate people of the provinces you have subjugated, claim to have certain rights, against which we shall ever contend; we will heartily thank thee, great King of Saltpetre!

For the great assistance you have given us in the temporary use of the great mass of “free Americans of African descent” whom we so delightfully bambooze, and make subservient to our designs and your glorification; we thank thee, thou noble prince of Conspirators!

For the indomitable spirit thou hast infused into thy servants in all the conventions in the provinces thou hast conquered, and for the counsel thou hast given them, in making laws and forging shackles to bind those who will not bow to thee and acknowledge thee their lord, and master; we thank thee, thou first and greatest of all Radicals.

For the nerve with which thou didst inspire thy ministers, who now sit in the halls at Washington to impeach the presumptuous traitor to thee and thine, who did dare to declare in spite of the many warnings from thy servants, that there was something sacred in the constitution which thy followers were bound to respect; we sing thy praises, great law giver of the Faithful.

For his speedy downfall and the overthrow of all who will not concede the rule of the world to thee and to thine; we pray thee great prince of the fiery realms.

For the final establishing of thy dominion here which we have so hopefully begun, and thy everlasting honor and glory for which we shall forever labor; we heartily pray, great King and Father of us all.

SUFFRAGE IN LIBERIA.—Liberia is agitated by the suffrage question. At present, only those possessing a very visible admixture of African blood are admitted to citizenship; but a party has lately organized which proposes, as a measure of justice, to enlarge the area of freedom by enfranchising the down-trodden white trash. The conservatives strongly oppose so flagrant a departure from the ancient landmarks of the constitution, and contend that there is no safety, socially and politically, except in maintaining the republic as it was made by its founders—strictly a colored man's government.

OUR WISE CONVENTION.—The proposed new Constitution provides (Art. XI, Sec. 9):

“It shall be the duty of the Legislature, as soon as practicable, to devise means for the education of IDIOTS and imbeciles.”

Did Bruder Welker introduce or vote for this Section?

Keep it before the people, that the ringed-streaked and striped, negro constitution allows white children to be bound servants to negro masters and allows negroes to become guardians of white children.

YOUNG MEN.

Young men of the South, it is to you we would speak. You have a mission to perform, a nobler, a holier, a more exalted than which heaven never designed to entrust to mortal hands.

Your fathers made this country—it is for you to save it. It is not in the dark hour of battle when confusion is widest and unbridled death sweeps over the plain, that danger is greatest; for sluggish peace where want of action is may more destructive be than war with all its ravages.

In the contest through which the Southern states have passed, in the fiery ordeal of many a contested field, you have written your names on the parchment of fame, and established your title to manhood. That was war; future generations may gaze on and admire but can never fully appreciate. As soldiers, amid the crash of battle and the waste of life, where heroes led and death opened wide her arms, and carnage strewed the sod, you were true to your altars then; so now in the reversed order of things be true and steadfast still.

Peace has come to your country, but not the peace they promised you. It is a mock peace clothed in all the paraphernalia of war; a peace more dangerous than the cannon's roar or the rifles' rattle.

On whom then must your country rely? Who is left to avert the humiliation, shame, and degradation an ungenerous and unscrupulous set of factionists would impose upon her? You, and you only.

This is the proud, the noble duty you have to perform; this the grand task that heaven has assigned you: this the labor of love that fond parents, sweet wives and sisters expect from you.

Weary, tired, and worn with the conflict of years, your fathers, the old men, are passing away, and going them bequeath this country with all her future of hope and of greatness to you. Now and henceforth the stage will be yours, and you must be the actors—the world your audience.

Look back—see your Washingtons, your Marions, your Jacksons, Jeffersons, Madisons, Monroes, Henrys, Chays, Calhouns, Pinckneys, of earlier days and remember what your country was, how proud her position, her record how brilliant, her cause how glorious!

Wearied, tired, and worn with the conflict of years, your fathers, the old men, are passing away, and going them bequeath this country with all her future of hope and of greatness to you. Now and henceforth the stage will be yours, and you must be the actors—the world your audience.

A new order of things meets you; the established forms of a century are swept as by a flood away; it is yours to grapple with a new fate and an inevitable destiny. Whether you maintain the glory achieved by immortal sires and handed down to you, or whether you will prove sluggards and sleep indifferent, remains with you.

You may have been raised in the lap of luxury, and slumbered on the pillow of ease; basked in the sunshine of fortune or whiled the listless hours away under the shade of your own vine and fig tree.

But all this is changed. The flat of the conqueror has swept your fortunes away, the cloud of war has obscured your view, and the battle axe has been laid to the roots of your vines. ‘Tis yours to labor, to work, to plant, to rebuild what desolation has laid waste and retrieve the shattered fortunes of remorseless war. ‘Tis yours to heal the wounds the sword has inflicted, and clothe your sunny land in beauty again.

Where has heaven smiled more sweetly, or nature lavished more bounties than here? The sun in journeying round the world sees no face more beautiful turned to him than that of “the land we love?”

Enchanted distance may lend attractions to more distant lands, and imagination picture charms that have, after all, only a fancied existence. But there is a vivid loveliness in the associations of old familiar places that lingers round the heart even after it has become cold and callous in the long combat with the world. Other spots may be fair and even dear, but the dearest of all is the native sod, rugged mountain, or flowered plain, whose freshness was first impressed on the young mind and whose bosom is the urn that contains the ashes of our dead.

And this land is yours, the title to which is written in the blood of three generations of heroes. The sod that covers the remains of your gallant comrades who fell in battle must not be given to the wilderness, nor to the desecration of an inferior race. Stand by her; let her fate be your fate, and your destiny hers.

TRAIN YOUR SINNES TO LABOR AND YOUR MINDS TO THINK.

Train your sinnes to labor and your minds to think. Prepare your hands to execute, and your heads to plan.—The problem, the great, grand problem of the future is before you; the issue you must grapple. You cannot evade the responsibility if you would. On you, on your action, depends the future of your country whether she be emboldened and raised higher, or debased and sunk lower. Designing men may connive for their own purposes and for a brief time succeed in their fell-born schemes; they may endow with temporary prerogatives an inferior race, but they might as well try to move the ocean from his bed, or lift the mountain from his base, as change the immutable decree of Omnipotence himself.

God's purposes are not to be thwarted by conceited nor wicked men, and God has not endowed the men of this age with intelligence and destined them to become the subjects of semi-savages, unless they so desire it and consent to it. Ignorance never did, could, can, nor will cope with intelligence, and the tribes of unprogressive Africa can never inherit and rule the land which God in his wisdom set apart for the white man and his children forever.

This is for you, young men. Prepare for the duty. Prepare to enter the arena, as laborers, as thinkers. The legislative halls are yours. You must be her law makers, her rulers.

On you the glory or shame, prosperity or adversity of your country depends.

RADICAL MASS MEETING.

On the 3rd the great mass meeting of the negro party was held in this place. Some 200 negroes of both sex and about 40 white rads, were present.

The Rev. George W. Welker presided, and David Hodgins acted as Secretary. Gov. Holden did not come; but, his representative, Jim O'Hara, the impudent negro from Canada, did. The people were about as well pleased as if his excellency had been there. Jim repeated his speech of the week before, with a few more lies interspersed.

Look back—see your Washingtons, your Marions, your Jacksons, Jeffersons, Madisons, Monroes, Henrys, Chays, Calhouns, Pinckneys, of earlier days and remember what your country was, how proud her position, her record how brilliant, her cause how glorious!

These Good Templar lodges places where both sexes meet in a social way, and all are brothers and sisters. If colored people can properly be admitted there they can be taken into any family to associate with the youth of both sexes.

THE IMPEACHMENT TRIAL is still progressing. The prosecution was closed by Butler on the 4th, and it is admitted on all hands the case has not been strengthened. The President has, so far, lost nothing by the trial.

The defense will hurry the case to conclusion. So weak was Butler's effort to convict, that some of the President's enemies charge him of playing false to the cause.

WHITE MEN OF GUILFORD! REMEMBER! that the Rev. Geo. W. Welker, who is now asking for your votes, said in the late mongrel convention, that “from what came under his immediate observation, in his own county, the colored man was SUPERIOR TO THE WHITE!”

A DICTIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE. By Jos. E. Worcester, L. D. Boston: Brewer & Tileston, publishers.

The publishers will accept our thanks for a copy of Dr. Worcester's unabridged Dictionary. This is regarded as a standard work by both American and English scholars, and has received their highest commendation. All who desire to preserve our language in its purity, owe Dr. W. a debt of gratitude for his labors in this respect. In lexicography we regard this Dictionary as the very best authority, and would recommend it to all our readers who may desire to obtain a work upon which they may rely, in orthography, pronunciation and definition.

Dr. Worcester brought to the execution of his task the highest qualifications,—ripe scholarship, untiring industry, laborious research, and an intense love for the English language in its purity.

Without wishing to detract from the merits of other Dictionaries, we must say in all candor that we prefer Worcester's to any other that we have examined; and shall keep this volume in our sanctum as our guide in orthography, and the arbiter of all doubtful matters that come within its appropriate sphere.

We cannot better express our appreciation of Dr. W. and his labors, than

K. K. K.—The following mystical notice was posted in our town this week:

Chamber of the Mighty Cyclops.

Dark corner, near the Tomb, Southern Border, still hour, April 4th, '68. Voice No. 29.—K. K. K.

Brothers of the Bloody Knife be up. Theides approach—the bloody morning—be war! The spirit of the Great Grand Centaur waxeth wrath. The serpent crawled into the quite place, the grave gapes; the windy month will bring the bloody shower, vengeance fieth on the swift wind, and the doomed die. The chains rattle and the dry bones quake, and then shall be ashy paleness when the t shall be red.

To-night, brothers, in the deep cave, when the Kie Kiehows and spirits vanish, meet under the curtain of the bloody moon. The vengeance cometh; Snuff the Sphinx the carnival of Death and ♦ ♦ ♦ A ♦ ♦ cometh.

Remember the hour; let the doomed tremble for there shall be rattling of bones. By order of the high and the GYRAPH.

FISHING ON SUNDAY.—The negroes in this place have a strange story afloat, concerning a man who went fishing on the Sabbath. They say he has been sitting on a stone for several weeks, with a pole in his hand, and cannot be gotten off. At every effort to remove him, he cries out with pain and that blood gushes out of the stone. When his friends attempt to take the pole from him, his hand bleeds and in this horrible condition he sits and fishes day by day!

What a warning to all who fail to remember the Sabbath and keep it holy!

GAS, KEROSENE OR CANDLES.—That is the question for Greensboro to decide, and it must be done at once. Candles are too filthy—Kerosene too dangerous, so we say gas, by all means! Mr. Cavannah says he cannot continue the works unless more liberally patronized. We respectfully suggest that a meeting be called and the matter discussed by the town ere the 20th instant. Let's drop politics for one hour, and think of something lighter.

Dear Sirs:—Please publish the following correspondence, and announce me among the Candidates to represent the people of Guilford County; in the House of Representatives of the General Assembly, if such be convened under the new constitution.

And oblige, yours truly,

MCLEANVILLE, N. C., April 4th, 1868.

Editors of "The Times":

Sir:—At a large meeting of the people in this vicinity held this evening, Col. H. C. Dick in the chair the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved. That we recommend Col. A. J. Gilmer, to our fellow citizens as a suitable person to represent us in the House of Commons of the next Legislature, and we request Col. Gilmer to become a candidate at once and can vass the county.

The undersigned were appointed a committee to inform you of the action of the meeting.

Allow us to add that we believe the resolution expresses the sentiments of the people in this part of the county.

Yours sincerely,

Signed J. A. MCLEAN,

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 6th, 1868.

MESSRS. J. A. McLean, and others:

Gentlemen:—Your of the 4th, inst., informing me of the highly complimentary preference expressed for me to represent your people in the next Legislature, was handed me on Saturday evening.

Although in no sense a politician, and my professional business, at this time, requiring my close attention, still, upon reflection, I do not feel at liberty to decline your flattering and unsolicited request. I will therefore become a candidate, and canvass the county, hoping to be able, at least, to convince some of the people that hear me, that their self-respect and security from degradation and contempt, depends upon their rejection of the proposed "New Constitution."

Yours most truly,

Signed J. A. GILMER, Jr.

Good.—The Ohio Legislature is bold and decided in its action, having committed but one mistake—the election of the wrong man for U. S. Senator.

But in rescinding the resolution adopting one of the nigger Constitutional amendments, it did well. Now it has also done well, in the following action!

The Ohio Senate, to-day, passed resolutions ejecting Thomas C. Jones, Senator from the eighth district, on the ground that he was elected by negro votes. The seat was awarded to Henry M. Onderdonk, his Democratic competitor, who was immediately sworn in.

MISCEGENATION.—Some three or four lewd white women have married negroes in this county recently. The clerk at first refused to grant them license; but the Bureau pursued him to do so under King Canby's construction of the Civil Rights Bill. Oh, you white faced, black souled Radicals who say the negro don't want to intermarry, what can you say to this?

The Farmer's Column.

PLANTING CORN IN DRILL.—Our readers are aware that we have occasionally urged the superiority of the practice of planting corn either in drills or in small hills thick in the row, where the highest amount of produce is the object. The average increase, in a number of observations and experiments in drill or thick hill planting, has been about twenty-five per cent. John Johnson says that this increase much more than overpays the slight additional cost of labor in hoeing, and nearly doubles the corn-fodder. We find our views endorsed in a recent article in the Style Times with the signature of "W.," which we recognize as that of Joseph Watts, well known as an intelligent and successful farmer. He states that he has used Emory's corn planter for twenty years and finds its a labor-saving implement, planting crop a day, and enabling him to put it in his crop promptly and in season, even if there happen to be at the time a scarcity of farm laborers. He remarks that the object of planting rows both ways, is not equal in practice to the importance attached to it in theory, and then adds some reasons of the "two-one-way system," in addition to those which we have formerly given, and which necessarily results from the use of a planter or drill. He states in substance that while the plowing of the seed is going on, which should be done with a strong team, a lighter team may be employed to harrow the freshly turned earth as fast as each "land" is completed, and the corn planter follows immediately after. This obviates the necessity of waiting till the whole field is completed for cross working, and planting in the old-fashioned way—when the soil, perhaps, has become dry, and many days lost by the delay. The rows thus planted by means of the drill will be either straight, or contain no short cranks; and hence the cultivator may be run close to the rows, and lessen the amount of hand hoeing. Another advantage is, the hoes may follow immediately after the cultivator while the earth is fresh and mellow; and any stalks accidentally covered are immediately relieved and set up, without leaving them partly prostrated several days, as in the old practice, until the cross cultivation is commenced. He further adds that he prefers to drill with the one horse, to any five men planting by hand and hoe, even after the whole field has been marked both ways; and that none of his neighbors raise greater crops of corn or at so little expense per bushel.—Cultivator.

INFLUENCE OF THE MOON ON PLANTS.

1. Vines, if pruned when the moon is increasing in light, will shoot out, spread and grow fast, particularly if done in the second quarter, because as the light of the moon increases, so does the sap in the tree.

2. Vines, if pruned when the moon is decreasing in light, will not spread nor grow fast, particularly if it be done during the last quarter, because the sap decreases with the light.

3. Timber cut down when the moon is increasing will soon become rotten, particularly if she be in her second quarter.

4. Timber cut down when the moon is decreasing will soon become rotten, particularly if she be in her second quarter.

5. Peas sown when the moon is decreasing in light will be just in the open position.

6. The age to which a pomegranate will live, depends on the moon's age at the time of planting; it will live just as many years as the moon was days old.

7. Plants and shrubs shoot up and take little root, if planted when the moon is decreasing in light, and in the zodiacal signs, Gemini, Libra, or Aquarius.

8. If planted when in the signs Taurus, Virgo, or Capricornus, they take deep root and do not grow tall.

STALE BREAD.—It is not generally known that stale bread, when immersed in cold water for a moment or two, and re-baked for about an hour, is in every respect equal to newly baked bread.

Wit and Wisdom.

Wrong is but falsehood put in practice.

Ready-money payments are the best promoters of frugality.

By a fashionable young married woman: The latest thing out—my husband.—Punch.

As we rise from childhood to youth, we look with contempt on the toys and trifles upon which our hearts have hitherto been set.

Some ladies of our acquaintance say that if the "stay lay" is not unconstitutional it is nevertheless very damaging to the constitution.

A celebrated lawyer once said that the three most troublesome clients he ever had were a young lady who wanted to be married, a married woman who wanted a divorce, and an old maid who didn't know what she wanted.

"Well, wasn't that a finished sermon we had this morning?" asked one person of another as they came out of church. "Finished!" was the reply: "yes, it was finished at last, although I began to think it never would be."

A Western paper contains the following apology:

"The editor is absent, the foreman has the toothache, the "devil" is drunk and trying to drink lager beer out of a boot jack, the press is out of order, and we ain't well ourselves—so please excuse a poor paper this week."

A chaplin in Arkansas says that a man buying furs was conversing with a woman at whose house he called, and asked her if there were any Presbyterians around there. She hesitated a moment, and said she guessed not, her husband hadn't killed any since they'd lived there."

"Who died for you?"—At a colored Sabbath school, in this country, a few weeks ago the devout teacher asked the question, "who died for you?" After a spell of silence and a spell of whispering "little sing" about forty years old replied, Abram Linkum."

"Cuffie, what do you think de most useful ob de planets—de sun or de moon?"—Well, Sambo, I tink de moon orter take de fur rank in dat ar' tickular."—"Why you tink so, Cuffie?"—Well, I tell you, kase she shines by night when we want light, and de sun shines by day when we don't."

The morality of some people is like their crockery; they have two sets, one for show and one for use; and they both answer the same purpose, the one satisfies the minds of other people, the other their own. But this may serve the purpose of this world, they are of no value for the next.

Never faint when you are alone—Always select some good opportunity—or young man. The more persons there are about you the more successful will be your fit. Be very careful, therefore, never to risk a faint unless you have an object in view. A woman should not only faint well, but be above suspicion. There are cases where even hysterics are profitable.

On a winter night, when the moon shone bright, and the snow was crushed over with a maid as fair as seraphs are, I slid from a hill down lower. Ere we reached the place, like a horse on a race, our swift gliding sled careened; and with tresses fair, streaming back on the air, Sweet Sallie went end over end.

As our mothers do.—We were amused the other evening, says an exchange, at three little girls playing among the sage brush in a back yard. Two of them were making believe keep house, a few yards distant from each other—neighbors as it were. One of them says to the third little girl: "There, now, Nelly, you go to Sarah's house and stop a little while and talk, and then you come back and tell me what she says about me; and I'll talk about her; then you go and tell all I say; and then we'll get mad and won't speak to each other just like our mothers do."
